Our Crunency.—The multiplicity of bank notes in circulation among us and the continual apprehension that some of the banks whose issues are current here at a small discount will break keep our community in a state of feverish excitement, and every one who has in his possession any money of country banks is hastening to put it off in the course of trade. Every one is expecting from day to day to hear of the failure of one or more of these country banks and is anxious to get rid of such currency. Eventually are thrown upon the hands of the brokers or merchants. If sold to the brokers, it is done at a discount of from two to five or perhaps ten per cent. If paid to the merchant, who is of course obliged to lise the discount, he is necessarily compelled to put a corresp nding additional price upon his goods. Thus the loss falls at last upon the mechanics and laborers, the consumers, who receive are compelled to pay it out again for the necessaries

All this loss might easily be avoided by the adoption of a system similar to that already in operation in New England by which the circulation of the country banks is kept always safe and at par. By au arrangement entered into between the several country banks which are really selvent and intend show that all Louisville needs for the full developto do only a legitimate banking business, the Suf- ment of her resources, is a further degree of energy folk Bank at Boston is constituted a bank of re- and enterprise among her mechanics. demption for their issues. This central bank reto keep on deposit a certain amount of coin, with which its issues are redeemed as they are presented. In this manner the circulation of the banks of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Rhode Island, Connecticut, and Massachusetts are redeemed as they come into Boston, day by day. Whenever a county bank fails to keep its deposit up in the bank of redemption in Boston, its notes are discredited in the commercial metropolis of New England, and the news of the discredit, conveyed by telegraph, necessarily stouche further circulation of their bills until they make up the required deposit. Thus all of these country banks are confined to a legitimate business. Whenever their circulation exceeds what they are able to provide for, they are summarily checked up and compelled to redeem or to go into liquidation.

A similar arrangement might easily be made among the sound and solvent banks of the States of Kentucky, Indiara, Ohio, Illinois, and Tennessee, and all their circulation would be maintained in good credit and would pass at par in any of these States from which the bank of redemption would be easily accessible. This plan would be mutually beneficial to the banks themselves and to the people. The sound banks would be known and their circulation would be commensurate with their ability to redeem it, and they would be entirely protected against the panics occasioned by the sudden discrediting of here and there one of the country banks that is really unworthy of public confidence, and the people among whom the issues of these sound banks would circulate at par would be saved the ruinous dis counts to which they are now subjected directly or indirectly upon the paper of the country banks. This check system would tend more than anything else to prevent the banking institutions which acceded to the proposed arrangement from indulging in the fiazardous speculations which have in almost every instance of suspension or failure been the chief causes of the difficulties which have produced the failures

The city of Louisville, from her geographical position, presents peculiar advantages for the location of such a bank of redemption for the States which we have named. She is the geographical center of these five States whose bank issues are most circulated in this section of the country and might proper selected as the location for the bank of con-tror by which this currency should be regulated.

There are other and important considerations connected with this proposition, which demand the attention of our people. We find them set out in an Mt. Vernon on the 11th.

article in the Memphis Eagle and Enquirer, from subject to no check except to that which they hold upon each other, they are very apt to rush into illegitimate banking enterprises and risk their capitals dozen or more banks are engaged in these outside operations, it is of but little avail for the sounder banks and those engaged in legitimate banking to remonstrate. Thus the weaker banks are kept up by the forbearance of the stronger ones, until finally commercial revulsion envelopes the whole in ruin. It is superfluous to observe that a depreciated circulation in bank bills is a curse to any community. It is felt by all, rich and poor. The rich suppose they are comparatively slightly affected by it, because they are too shrewd to lose anything directly in the matter of depreciated bills. But a depreciated currency deranges industry and makes everything we consume cost more than it otherwise would. This in turn, increases the expenses of the industrial classes, and thus renders them unable to pay rent or improve their condition. These things react on the landholder, the capitalist, the trader and mechanic." These are important considerations. Not only the regulation of the currency, but the enhancement of the trade and business of the city may be affected by the plan proposed, and we cannot perceive any good or substantial reasons why such au arrangement should not be promptly enare largely circulated here and which intend to do harmony with the laws of acoustics that a full voice an houest, safe, and legitimate banking business. It may be done without the intervention of any legislation whatever, or, if a new banking institution for this purpose should be required, a charter for it could without doubt be easily procured from the approaching Legislature.

INFLUENCE OF THE RECENT, EXHIBITIONS.—The pleasure afforded by the recent Agricultural and Mechanical exhibitions, though of an elevating and refining character, socially considered, is in no wise comparable to the more beneficial effects which have accrued, and will long continue to be felt in our city and State. Our mechanics and manufacturers were presented with an opportunity for the display of their skill, energy, and capacity to produce that is rarely had. Thousands of strangers congregated here. They saw at a glance the entire system and scale of Louisville manufactures. They became convinced of the superior excellence of this point as a place for the purchase of all manner of supplies, and there was not an exhibitor at either fair but reaped a rich harvest in sales and profits from the small outlay attending the exhibition. In this respect both fairs were most complete successes, and it is gratifying to hear the unbounded commendation bestowed upon them by exhibitors. There can be no doubt entertained but that the recent liberal manifestation of spirit and energy toward the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, by our leading merchants, was an immediate consequence of the success attending the fair. Louisville, never before, was fairly and properly presented to the world, and the denion stration of her capacities and glorious advantages on these late occasions was so palpable that none could have failed to notice and admire them.

The National Fair completely vindicated to every visitor the superiority of Louisville's natural location over that of any other point in the West. this kind of currency in payment for their work, and Hundreds of manufacturers from abroad, who had never visited the place before, were struck with the immense advantages of our city as a place for the establishment of manufactories of any and every description. We hear of five persons from the East who contemplate, and, indeed, have made arrangements for the erection of factories in this city. All these are cheering indications, and only tend to

DEDICATION OF A GERMAN BAPTIST CHURCH. quires all those which are parties to the arrangement | The very interesting exercises connected with the ening of the German Baptist Church at the cor ner of Chestnut and Hancock streets, yesterday, were attended by large audiences, morning, afternoon, and evening. The edifice is a very neat and substantial one, and has been built by the liberal contributions of a few of our leading Baptists and other friends. It is an enterprise worthy of the aid of all who have at heart the progress of true Protestant-

> Yesterday afternoon Rev. Mr. Fleischmann, of Philadelphia, delivered a very able address in English. He gave a full account of the origin and history of the German Baptists, and the bitter perseeutions which they had undergone from the authorities of Prassia, Austria, and Denmark.

> Last night the services were conducted in German. The church will hereafter be open every Sabbath and a sermon delivered by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Miller, who is a gentleman of fine abilities.

The New York Times publishes some interestng letters from China. One of the correspondents states that the English Plenipotentiary will insist on the opening of nine ports, with the privilege of having a Consulate and a guard of soldiers at five of these ports, and a Consulate at the remaining four; he will also demand a grant of land at each for the erection of forts. This is a pretty strong indication that England intends to have some solid security for the faithful observance of the treaty she is about to dictate.

A correspondent writing from Shanghae, states that the people at the North exhibit the utmost indifference about the war. This is important information, for it proves that the fight is a local one, and is confined very much, on the Chinese side, to Yeh and his Cantonese. In that case the Emperor may be expected to yield without any great display of force to the demands of the British Representa tive, backed as they will be by the French and American Ministers, and the war will be brought to a speedy and successful close.

THE PASSENGERS BY THE CENTRAL AMERICA. We publish in another column a very nearly complete list of the passengers who were saved in the ill-fated steamer Central America. We derive the interesting and mournful catalogue from a different sonrce than our regular telegraphic dispatches,

The new building of the University Medical School, now uearly completed, occupies the ground covered by the former edifice. The arrangements of for teaching medical science. the new structure, however, vary widely from those of the former. The general lecture room occupies the end of the building formerly used for the chemical room, but, instead of being in the basement as tent than whole columns of the brightest eulogy: that was, the new room is in the first story. It is tered into among all the country banks whose notes large, finely lighted and ventilated, and is in such may be distinctly heard in any part of it. It is, moreover, so ingeniously contrived that the Professor of Chemistry uses it in common with his colleagues. His experiments are performed in a recess of the room, in full view of the class, and the disagreeable gases evolved are all carried off without entering the lecture room. This is a great improvement upon the former room. The admirable apparatus, a great deal of which was purchased by Professor Silliman in Paris and Berlin, has received considerable accessions from Prof. Smith, and we know of no experiment in chemistry that may not ing, perfect in all its appointments, with a library be fully made and exhibited by this excellent appareil of the laboratory.

On the same floor with the amphitheatre is the atomical and pathological specimens designed for this room have been shipped from Paris, and many of them have already arrived in safety. We noticed a number of the ship-worn and foreign-looking cases in the University building. The Dean of the Faculty has politely permitted us to read a letter from the great European Bibliopolist, Hector Bossange, under whose orders the articles for the Musenm were constructed. This distinguished man passed some days here a few years since, and is a warm personal friend of the University. Referring versity of Louisville may be proud to have them. Among these treasures are Dr. Auzoux's models, which in Europe are considered indispensable to the medical professor. When we think of these rare and priceless acquisitions, we are really tempted to congratulate the Faculty of the school upon their late calamity. In the same story, at the west end of the building, are the dissecting rooms, which are large, airy, fully ventilated, and perfectly lighted. In the story below this is the large room for the library. It is worthy of the magnificent, choice, and various material that is to adorn its shelves. We spent some time amongst the learned tomes of this library, feasting enough to whet our literary appetites for a great many more repasts of the sort. Among its rich and curions volumes, we especially noted the works of Hippocrates, the father of Medicine. The edition of the library was printed in Geneva, 1665, the year of the persecution of the Janwere causing that flurry among the Hollanders so accurately and feelingly described by Diedrich Knickerbocker. As we looked upon the venerable tome, we felt that we were almost near enough to the sage of Cos to shake hands with him. We should like, by the way, to hear the old fellow read the hard Latin of this Genevan edition of his works. We rather think he would prefer lustrating Athens of her Plague several times over. Next in interest and in antiquity, we noticed the great work of Swammerdam, published in 1737. The library seems to be peculiarly full in the matter of plates, certainly a very important matter in a medical li-As an example of its richness in this respect, we may cite Cruveilhier's celebrated work The great London teachers, notwithstanding all their hospital facilities, and their extended museums of pathological and anatomical specimens, refer in their lectures, we are informed, more frequently to Cruveilhier's plates than to any other means of demonstration. RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river is still falling. Last evening there were 3) inches water in the canal. We have had several lowers, and the weather now is very cool.

The condition of the river between here and Caire and the position of boats is given in the memoranda furnished us by the officers of the D. A. Given and Dr. Robertson, which will be found in another

The Mississippi at St. Louis was at a stand on Friday. The Upper Mississippi was rising. The Missouri was very low and at a stand.

For New Orleans .- The Dr. Robertson will leave this evening and connect at Cairo with the packets for St. Louis and New Orleans. The Robertson has splendid accommodations and attentive officers.

The D. A. Given has proven herself one of the best low water boats afloat. She has just performed a remarkably quick trip. Going down she had 400 tons freight and did not set a spar. She will return to Cairo to-morrow evening.

The Superior is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day and the Umpire is the evening packet.

The fine steamer Wm. Dicksou, Capt. Duncan, is the regular packet for Henderson to-day.

The steamer Nettie Miller has been purchased by Capts. J. & D. Hughes, of Nashville, for $6,300. Capt. Cartwright is hereafter to command her.

Capt. T. W. Scott, formerly of the Missouri river packet St. Ange, has purchased the controlling interest in the steamer Ben Bolt.

The steamer Hibernia, from this city for Parkersourg, struck a ledge of rocks, which caused her to leak. With the aid of the pumps she managed to keep astoat until her arrival at Coalport, where she was compelled to discharge her cargo to save it, as the water was gaining on her. Fortunately none of her cargo was injured, and it was stowed away in a barge. She returned to Cincinnati to go on the ways for repairs. She made from eight to teu inches water. Her cargo consisted of 2,100 bbls flour, 100 do alcohol, 50 tierces hams and 200 boxes starch. Capt. Cook entered protest at Pomerov.

Steamer John Tompkins Sun': .- This steamer, from this port bound for Cairo, is reported sunk at Oil Creek. On one side she is lying in four feet and on the other in five feet of water. She will doubtless he raised again. Most of her cargo was insured here. It will be however recovered in a damaged condition. The John Tompkins was purchased some months ago hy Mr. Patterson, of Jeffersonville, and she had undergone thorough repair. On leaving here, she grounded on Portland bar and was there for two days.

Since the above we have conversed with the pilot of the John Tompkins. He says that the boat struck a log which lay imbedded in the sand, tearing out a considerable portion of her cargo. The cargo in her hull consisted of potatoes and pork. The latter will sustain no damage. Her deck was free of water. She will be raised with but little difficulty. The underwriters have dispatched Mr. Richard

THE RECEST STORM .- The papers bring us acounts of the recent storm on the Atlantic coast, in which the steamer Central America was lost.

At Wilmington, N. C., immense quantities of rain fell during Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, and, as a consequence, the water courses, ponds creeks, ec., were swellen to an enormous extent, and much damage was done by overflows, carrying away of bridges, &c.
In town the effects of the storm were apparent in the number of trees and of bronches uprooted, twisted off, and scattered about the different streets. Many fences were blown down, and some slight duning done to houses.

On the sea coast the gale was terribly severe.

Down at Wrightsville Sound the waters of the sea swept over the different sund banks and marshes, covering them all. The tide of course rose to a very unusual height, and swept away like chaff several of the bathing and boat houses of the resident inhabitants. Boats were washed out of these latter and landed high on the shore. Trees and fences were The damage to the shipping on the coast has been

Johnson, of those in the house. The officers obtained four muskets from the back party, and two guns and a pistol from the house This is the third time this house has been attacked within a week.

The Laurence Divorce Sunt .- In this better-known as the "gimlet-hole case," a number of witnesses, including some eighteen or twent; females, many of them in the height and breadth of the fashion, appeared in the common pleas court yesterday afternoon, and many spectators had assembled, carious hood, and many spectators had assembled, enrious to hear the testimony developed in the case. GOVERNMENTAL FATUITY. - The London corres pondent of the Commercial Advertiser states that the fact has been exposed that the Calcutta Government had absolute warning of what was going to take place months before the India mutiny broke out. Not merely the warnings of opinion, such as were expressed by old General Napier, but clear, unmistakable announcements, such as those which preceded the gunpowder plot in England, and which through being attended to saved King and Parliament. In November last Gholab Singh, an old Sikh chieftain, wrote to Lord Canuing, the Governor-General at Calcutta, that the Mahomedans intended to rise, and had offered him the direction of the projected movement. The Government, it is said, laughed and did not even reply to the letter. In their self-complacent wisdom, they doubtless looked upon it as a trick of the old man to ingratiate himself; but, allowing the probability of this supposition, what Government with a spark of prudence would have slighted the intelligence, and left it without an attempt at investigation? This, however, is as nothing compared with what follows. An English merchant had had his suspicions excited, and even converted into certainty, and upon communicating his information to Government he received the same treatment.

This person is stated to have been a Mr. Hamilton. He had long carried on business in Cawnpore and Allahabad, and had gained the confidence of the native dealers. From them he received a friendly notice to send away his family in six months. At first he refused, but at last he became convinced there was impending peril, and he followed the advice. At the same time he wrote to the Government and offered to obtain further particulars. But the authorities were too well satisfied with their own knowledge, and this letter, like that from Gholab Singh, was not even acknowedged. It is to be admitted that these statements may require confirmation, but they wear a strong appearance of truth. Assuming them to be correct, the history of humau conceit and apathy hardly furnishes a similar instance of infatuation. Either fact taken singly might have been expected to excite vigilance, but the two, from such totally different sources, amounted to a hand writing upon the wall which only an official Nebnchadnezzar would have disregarded. Nothing was done, and Delhi, the great arsenal of the country, was left without even a single company of European troops; while the Calcutta authorities were busy in framing a law to extend the native power so as to bring the people to perfect political equality with their rulers, and to enable them to sit as judges in the law courts.

TARIFF DECISIONS .- The collector of customs for the port of New York assessed a duty of twenty-fona per cent. on an article of "the same texture and material of the ordinary white woolen flannel of commerce, but a colored or plaid fabric." The Secretary of the Treasury on appeal overruled the decision, saying that it is entitled to entry at the rate of nineteen per cent. That it is composed of wool, or colored, or printed does not change its character as known in the trade, nor toure it from the schedule in which "flannels" are provided for specially.

The Secretary of the Treasury has also overruled the decision of the same collector that checked flannels must pay a duty of twenty-four instead of nine-

A question was submitted by the collector for the port of Boston, on appeal from his decision assessing dnty on twenty-five bales of wool imported, claimed to be entitled to free entry under schedule 1 of the tariff of 1857, as of the value of twenty cents or less per pound at the original place of exportation. The collector, on comparing the aggregate cost of the wool with the quantity appearing on the invoice after making the proper reduction of the foreign weight to our own, found that the wool, as shown by the invoice, cost 20 35-100 per pound, and assessed a duty of 24 per cent. under the classification in schedule C of the tariff of 1857, of "wool, unmaunfactured, not otherwise provided for."

The Secretary of the Treasury has confirmed this decision, saying: "In estimating the foreign value of wool, with reference to its exemption from or liaduty, the appraisers can determine such value independently of the invoice, by the prices current and other reliable means of infernation of the value of the article in foreign markets, such as they emplay in ascertaining the foreign values of other staple articles of import."

Carlola Montez is bound to keep herself before the public The last anecdote about her is not bad. It is related that while in Montreal she visited a well-known confectionary establishment, on Notre Dame street, and while there was annoyed by the entrance of several young army officers, who, under the pretence of buying something, gazed pertinaciously and unpleasantly at fair Lola. After submitting a while, Miss Montez walked up to the mistress of the saloon, and asked, "Madam, how much do these persons owe you?" Her only answer, at first, was a look of snrprise; but on the question being repeated she was told, "One shilling and six pence." "Here it is, then," said Lola; "I would not wish that these gentlemen should lose a single copper in gratifying their curiosity by staring at me." The officers retreated in confusion.

The London correspondent of the New York Commercial says there are more than fifty streets in London crowded as much as Broadway in New York ever is, and the walks being much narrower, it is easy to imagine what the difficulties are in progressing. The Londoners are not early risers, but rather turn night into day. Very few persons take break-fast before 9 o'clock, and 12, midnight, is considered a very early hour to retire. Places of amusement keep open till one and sometimes two in the morning, and in the gardens, where pyrotechnic displays are a prominent feature, the fire-works are not not off till twelve.

It appears that four more cargoes of negroes from Africa, numbering 1,783 likely hands, have been landed on the Cuban coast, within half a mile of the country seat of the Governor, General Concha. These negroes, who are obtained on the African coast at very little cost, are said to be worth in the aggregate $1,069,800. The enormous profits of the slave trade embolden the traders to run all risks. The combined British and American fleets on the African coast cannot stop the trade.

MELANCHOLY DEATH .- We learn from Lexington that Miss Sarah Thomas, sister of Hon. B. C. Thomas, Judge of the Fayette County Court, was found dead in her bed Sunday morning. There were rumors prevalent that she had committed suicide.

Either from ignorance or murderous disregard f the lives of the people of Geneva, the fattening influence of arsenic has been brought to bear upon the chickens supplied to the market of that city. The police one morning seized a quantity of delicate plump chickens, trought in from a neighboring village in Savoy. The poultry was examined, and, to the horror of everybody, found to contain arsenic. A number of individuals were arrested, but nothing further had been disclosed.

THE LAW OF THE RAIL .- The New York Court of Appeals has recently made some important decisions in railroad cases, which we will state in Dead-heads, it seems, can sue for injuries resulting from accidents. The court holds that in all cases where a railroad company voluntarily undertakes to convey a passenger upon their road, whether with or without compensation, if such passenger is injured by the culpable negligence or want of skill of the agents of the company, the court holds the latter is liable.—Notion vs. Western Railroad.

The bodily pain and suffering of the victim of a railroad accident, as well as his medical expenses and pecuniary loss, are proper subjects for compensation.—Ransom vs. the Erie Railroad.

A carriage meeting a city car is not bound to turn to the right, the statute requiring carriages, when meeting in the highway, to turn to the right, having no application to the meeting of railroad cars with common vehicles in the streets of a city.—Hegan vs. 8th Avenue Railroad.

THE BATTLE OF BALTIMORE-SPEECH OF GEN. Cass - The forty-third anniversary of the battle of Baltimore was celebrated with much spirit at Balti-At Washington city there was also a celebration. The association of veterans paraded, and according to the report of the Baltimore Sun, marched to the Executive mansion, but learning that Presed to the Executive mansion, but learning that President Buchanan was absent at his country residence, with a passing salute they marched on through the beautiful grounds to the War Department. Here they paid their respects to Ilon. John B. Floyd, Secretary of War, who responded to the introduction in a patriotic and happy style, and expressive of the gratification afforded him by the call. The honorable Secretary of the Navy, being formally apprized of the universal desire to make him a visit, appeared on the west portice of the Navy Department. ed on the west portico of the Navy Department. The interview here was also one of great pleasure

Mr. Toucey's speech, though brief, was exceeding-ly appropriate, and delivered with a degree of pathos which seemed to vibrate on every heart. At each of those visitations, the spirit-stirring airs of the music contributed greatly to the general enthusiasm. By acclamation the next call was to the venerable warrior and statesman, Gen. Cass.

With a step almost as vigorous as twenty years ago, he met them on the sidewalk of Pennsylvania Avenue, and extended to each and all a cordial welcome; he expressed his happiness at seeing so many surviving to witness the great prosperity of the country, and hoped they would still long be spared to behold its perpetuation. Pausing a second, the veteran speaker continued:

rtlemen, this is the 12th of September. On "Gentlemen, this is the 12th of September. On the 10th of September, forty-three years ago—then in command of the northwestern army—I was sitting in my tent, a postman rode up with a letter to me; I broke the seal. What do you think the letter contained? It announced the glorious truth, which will forever be inscribed on the brightest pages of our country's history: 'We have met the enemy, and they are ours,' from Oliver II. Perry.

'This news spread like lightning, and sent a thrill throughout the whole army, such as it is impossible to conceive. Then came the glorious news from Baltinore. This added to the general enthusiasm and patriotic ardor of the American force.'

The speech of the General produced deep feeling, and was quickly responded to by three hearty cheers and Hail Columbia by the band.

EXTRAORDINARY DECISION-In New Jersey a Ten and who sets fire to the House he Occupies does not Com-mit Arson.—In the Gloucester courts a few days since, the case of the State vs. James A. Scott, for arson, was tried. The prosecutor stated that defendant had rented a frame building, purchased a. stock of tools and materials, for which he had not stock of tools and materials, for which he had not paid, obtained hisurauce on them, and then set fire to the building. The counsel for prisoner moved to quash the indictment, insisting that the act was not an indictable offense under the laws of this State; he held that, by the common law of England, it was not felouy for a man to burn his own property, and, as tenant, the property was his own, pro temp ne Mr. B. supported his position by quotations from numerous authorities. Judge Potts sustained the exception taken by the defendant, and stated that, in order to make the charge of burning a felony, under company law; it must be the property of such der commou law, it must be the property of another, that much discussion had arisen relative to the actual meaning of the term "another," and that the British Parliament, in view of the doubtful construction of the law, had enacted a special statute which was also the case in several States of our Union, but that there was no such law in this State: he also affirmed the right of ownership, as existing in the tenant for the term of his lease, and in reply to a suggestion that the lease was a verbal one, remarked that "a verbal lease is good enough in this State." The case was accordingly dismissed and State." The case was accordingly dismissed and the prisoner released.—Newark (N. J.) Advertiser.

Fatal Colliston at Sea between an American and Genoise lessel.—Yesterday morning a large American ship, the Western Star, of Boston, put into Queenstown, nearly in a sinking condition. About 2 o'cleek that morning she came into collision with a strange vessel off the Old Head of Kinsale, went right over her, sending her to the bottom, with every consequences. ry one on board. So sudden was the occurrence, the two vessels meeting in the dark, that the crew of the Western Star could only make out that the other was a bark, but could ascertain nothing of where she was from, or to what nation her crew belonged, except that some of the latter who were on deck when she was struck appeared to be neither American nor British. A Geneese ship arrived also yesterday, the captain of which expressed his opinion that the lost vessel was from his country, but in all probability it will never be clearly ascertained what ship she was or where she was from. Some merchant will, no doubt, miss her, and many hearts will heat anaiously in vain for the return of those who formed her crew, but none will be able to say positively that the way the one they leaded for. Western Star was the one they looked for. The Western Star was bound from Rio to Falmouth for orders, with sugar and rice, and she was towed up to the Victoria Dock, at Passage, yesterday, alongside of which she now lies, men being employed constantly at the pumps to keep her afloat, as her cut-water was carried away and several plank in her bottom were strend away and several plank in her bottom were started .- Cork Examiner, Sept. 1.

On the Webster farm in Franklin, N. H., now owned by Rufus L. Tay, a hen died recently, leaving a brood of chickens but a few hours from the shell. The cries of the little brood, in consequence of the loss of their protector, roused the sympathies of another chicken, four months old, which adopted the orphan brood, and for a fortnight past has faithfully performed all the functions of a maternal hen toward them. The manner in which the little foster mother imitates the matronly strut and cluck of her elders is quite amusing.

FROGS.—Years ago, when John Bull or Brother onathau wished to concentrate into a single phrase Frocs.—Years ago, when John Bull or Brother Jonathau wished to concentrate into a single phrase his contempt for the French, he called them "frogeaters." Among the few old maxims, however, which seem likely to live through all the ages, growing better with the passage of time, like wine forg kept, is that which says, "dyatthua non dapatundum" Changes of fashion bring changes of taste. The once abhorred and roisonous 'love-apple," which in our boyhood was considered an attractive but rather dangerous garden plant, is now the much which in our boy hood was considered an attractive but rather dangerous garden plant, is now the much relished tomato, which everybody devours. Snuils, unattractive as they are, in the eye of science are as good as any other shell-lish (?), and scientific cookerv considers them a delicacy. Horse flesh is said to furnish jucy roasts and broils, and not long since a gentleman of learning in Paris entertained his guests with soft p made from the bones of the mastodon. But let us return to our frogs, an animal in which we have a personal experience somewhat large and varied. The physiological student finds in them the most convenient subject for scientific illustration of the phenomena of the nervous system. In these dissections it is common to strip the skin from the hind quarters of the scientific martyr; and "Deputy Sawbones" is apt to become enthusiastic over the admirable texture of the muscles of the thigh. Firm yet delicate, having a tinge of flesh color which the epicure recognizes as the sure index of that degree of tenderness which, not too soft, resists the masticators with a gentle force which perishes in sweetcators with a gentle force which perishes in sweetness, its cleanly look leads the student to revise his early prejudices, and think that Johnny Crapeau ness, its cleanly look leads the student to revise his early prejudices, and think that Johnny Crapeau may be no fool for eating frogs.

When one has opened the gates of conviction, the hour of temptation is sure to come. He goes, some evening, into a restaurant with a casual friend, who would eat a night-cap if fashion dictated, and that friend orders frogs. A rebellious feeling at the stomach arises, but our student of nature is a hero. He throws off early prejudice, and, with a doubtful, speculative, and sceptical face, inserts a thigh in his unwilling mouth. "Shades of spring chickens!" he exclaims, "is this a subject for national obloquy? Shall brother stand against brother because one eats frogs? In the name of Apicius let both eat of such frogs? In the name of Apicius let both eat of such apples of discord as this, and be mutually happy!" In all our watchings of the human mind, we have In all our watchings of the human mind, we have never seen old ideas perish and new convictions, new anticipations, and new pleasures take their place so rapidly as when a sceptic first tastes a frog. Single converts are constantly multiplying, friend argues with friend, until frogs are now a staple at our eating houses and the strong carl at a free lunch. American prejudice has yielded to Gallic judgment.—Buffalo Commercial Advertiser.

AN ACTIVE CAREER -General Albert Sydney AN ACTIVE CARPER —General Albert Sydney Johnston, who succeeds General Harney in command of the army now marching against Utah, was born in Kentucky in the year 1802, and is, therefore, about fity-five years old. His father removed from Connecticut to Kentucky in 1787, and was one of the pioneers of that region. The son studied at Transylvania University, graduated at West Point, served eight years as lieutenant and adjutant in the sixth region. regiment United States Infantry, was adjutant general of the Illinois troops with the rank of colonel in the Black Hawk war, and subsequently resigned his the Black Hawk war, and subsequently resigned his commission in the United States army to join that of Texas, which he did shortly after the battle of San Jacinto. Being a good disciplinarian, he perfected the organization of the Texan army, of which he became adjutant general and passed rapidly through all the grades, until in 1837 he was commander-inchief. In 1839 he acted as Secretary of War under President Lamar, and was in a memorable fight on the Nucess, in which the Texans deteated seven hundred Cherokees. At the breaking out of the Mexican war, General Johnston, at the urgent request of General Taylor, joined the army, and was chosen colonel of the first Texan regiment. This chosen co'onel of the first Texan regiment. This was disbanded with others, afterwards, but Colonel Johnston became inspector-general of General Butler's division, and served as such at the battle of Montcrey. He was in the hottest of the fire, had his horse thrice wounded, and was highly compliantly the first began for his callestry. mented in all the dispatches for his gallactry mented in all the dispatches for his gallinary. After that battle he retired into private life as a planter in Brazoria county, Texas, where he remained until, in 1849, President Taylor appointed him paymaster in the army. Thus once more in the lists he has continued ever since in active service, and passed through the grades until he is now in command of the Utah expedition.

TREATY BETWEEN GREAT BRITAIN AND HONDE-RAS.—A treaty of trade and navigation between Her Majesty and the Republic of Hondaras, signed on the 27th of August, 1856, has just been printed. It is to endure seven years from the date of the ratification The most important article is an additional one relative to the right of way by the interoceanic route, the Honduras Government agreeing that the right of way over any such route, from sea to sea, shall be at all times open and free to the Gov-ernment and subjects of Great Britain "for all law-ful purposes," and that no tolls or dues shall be imposed upon the transit of property or on the public mails of Great Britain. The Republic also engages to establish free ports at the extremetics of the contemplated road. In return for these concessions, England recognizes the rights of sovereignty and property of Honduras in and over the line of the said road, and guarantees the entire neutrality of the same, with the proviso that her guarantee and protection may be withdrawn if the company managing the road adopt regulations contrary to the spirit and intention of this article of the treaty.

A Female Horse-Thief. Mr. Michael O'Conror, a contractor, living at No. 126 First avenue, and engaged on a new building in Howard street, had a horse and wagen stolen from him at 6½ o'clock last evening by a young female, name unknown. Mr. O'Conuor had driven from his residence to the house in Howard street, which he entered for a few moments, leaving the horse in the street. When he came ont again, he was just in time to see his horse and wagon driven rapidly away by a young female. He followed after, crying "stop thief," but the female Jahu applied the whip with freedom and soon outdistanced pursuit. When last seen, she was rushing for "the road" in gallans typle.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS .- Monday, September 21. Joseph Bellew was nrrested as a suspected felon. He says that he is from Covington, to which place the Court advised him to remove back immediately. Discharged.

John Hancock (not the President of the old Continental Congress) had disturbed Melina A. Moore on various occasions. Discharged on his own recognizance to keep the peace three months.

Wm. Swincher, alias Wm. Williams, had stolen a horse from Scott county, Ind., and brought it to a livery stable on Market street. Continued to hear from witnesses.

Ben Beach struck a woman by the name of Margaret Haley. Bail in $100 to answer for an assault and $100 to keep the peace.

Edward Kearney and Martin Gorman were guilty of disorderly conduct. Kearney had to give bail, and Gorman was discharged. John Corbce was very drunk and disorderly about the engine house. The Judge gave him a lengthy lecture and discharged him.

Robert Alexander, who had escaped from the work-house, was rearrested and sent back to his old

Tucker Thomasson, a butcher by trade, had been beating several persons and knocked down a man after being arrested. Bail in $200 for three months. John F. Otwell, hitherto considered a man of reputable character, was arrested on Sunday, charged with stealing the horse and buggy of Mr. Wilkes. The horse was found in Cincinnati, where Otwell had been. Mr. Levi, on Sunday, saw him on Broadway, and asked him in his buggy. Otwell discovered Officer Rust approaching, and immediately fled. He was, however, captured. He says that he purchased the horse and buggy from a man named Wm. Bennett. Testimony not concluded.

6 FIRE.—The alarm of fire at 2 o'clock this morning stances, proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decic cloure.

This is a parely vegetable compound, prepared on-strict-ly-scientist, indicated by scientist, indicated by the flowe of our fatheriand scattered here as d there over the face of our fatheriand scattered here as d there over the face of whis mighty country. Meeting with great success among them. I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medicinal virtues unuel be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous see of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneons in its effect, it hinds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, rising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vizor in the system.

OPERATIONS OF THE PHILADELPHIA SUBMARINE MINING COMPANY AT SEBASTOPOL,-A letter to the N. Y. Times, dated Redout Kale (on the Black Sea). July 28th, says:

July 28th, says:

There is a regular Russian line of steamers between Odessa and this place. The ships stop at intermediate ports. The accommodation is good and fare reasonable. Enpatoria, where the English fleet first landed, is an old Tartar town of no importance, with an open roadstead for its harbor; but Sebastopol, the next port, has one of the finest harbors in the world. At present a fleet of seventy-three vessels are sunk there. The Philadelphia Submarin-Mining Company have the contract to clear the harbor, and, under its enterprising President, Colonel Gowen, the job will be accomplished. The Colonel has with him a hundred superior American mechanics, and any quantity of Russian laborers. He has now been at Sebastopol six weeks, and the company have already ejected a storehouse, machine and blacksmiths' shops, and houses for the men.

They have two large guu-boats of 400 tons, a barge of 100 tons, and a large dock, uearly ready to launch, besides the steamer General Knox, the bark Susan Jane, and the schooner Silver Key. They are expecting also the arrival of the ship Our Union, with three additional docks. Separatery of the this time the statement of the ship our Union, with three additional docks. Sebastopol at this time has all the life, activity, and appearance of a New England ship-yard. The company have two gangs of divers at work, clearing away the vessels before attempting to raise them. In doing this they have retemping to raise them. In nong this they have recovered a large number of cannon, some 65 pounds in weight, and about 12 feet long, from the steamship Viadimir; also, a great many anchors and chains, some of them weighing seven tons, from the 120 gun-ship Constactine, besides a large amount of rigging, brass, copper, etc. The iron steamers and new ships have not received any material damage from the worms, but the old ships will not be worth repairing. The auchors, chains, copper, sheathing, repairing. The auchors, chains, copper, she bolts, rigging, &c., are of very great value.

LAUNCH OF THE GREAT EASTERN,-The Canadian (London) News, of the 2d inst., says it is authorized to state that the Great Distern steamship "will be launched is the first spring tides of next month (October). The day is not as yet absolutely fixed, but this important event will absolutely take place on Monday, the 5th of that month. The tides will be highest on that day."

The same journal describes with minuteness a oute of pleasure travel through the United States the European Continent to Germany and Switzerland, for which "Great Eastern tourist tickets" are to be provided.

"This tour can be accomplished, say from New York and back, in about eight weeks, including the two passages across the Atlantic; but to those loss I ADDES', MISSA'S', AND CHILDREN'S SHOES of 1 jeb OWEN & WOOD'S. pressed for time, it can be advantageously extended to from eleven to thirteen weeks. TO strangers and others visiting Louisville—we would call their attention to our large and well-selected stock of Hoots, Shoes, and Brogans, which we have made to our order by the hest manufacturers fast. To those wishing anything in our time, we are enabled to offer better goods and at less prices than those who get their goods in this market. Empere will consult their interest by examining our stock before purchasing classwhere.

OWEN & WOOD, 495 Market st., et jack a little under 9,000 miles, will be about £53 sterling, or say $280.

"Arrangements are also in progress for a more extended tour, which, in addition to the foregoing, and at an increased cost of about 100 dollars, will probably comprise Naples, Rome, Florence, Genoa, Turin, and Milan, together with the pessage across the Alps and Simplon."

FROM THE SLOOP-OF WAR PLIMOUTH.—The Navy Department have disputches from Commander Foote, in command of this ship, dated "Off Merian river, Siam," June 16th last. The Plymouth reached Siam from Singapore on the 2d of May last, six days from that port. Commander Foote, and all the officers to be spared for such an expedition, accompanied Mr. Consul Bradley, the bearer of the treaty, went in the King's steamer to Bongkok, where they found ample accommodations provided for them by the King's directions. Commander Foote was present at the first interview between Mr. Bradley and the Siam Commissioners, where the treaty was first discussed, relative particularly to our Senate's rejection of the fifth article.

During their stay at Bangkok, they, the officers, were presented to both King's, and were treated with distinguished consideration. FROM THE SLOOP-OF WAR PLIMOETH. - The were presented to both Kings, and were treated with distinguished consideration.

The second King having manifested much interest in the ship, her armament, &c, was invited to go on board, which he did—his visit being the first Boral Siam visit to a ship of sny foreign nation. He was accompanied by a suite of twenty princess and nobles, and spent the greater part of two days on board, going ashere at night. A royal salute was fired in his honor, the battery was exercised, and the ship maneuvered for his entertainment &c. He the ship maneuvered for his entertainment, &c. He sent presents of food and other necessary articles on board, for which payment was positively declined.

The treaties of Siam with the United States and Western European nations are doing much for the development of the commercial resources of the nation. Sugar and rice are the principal exports, and though the Siam machinery for the manufacture of the former is most imperfect, it is very abundant and cheap—$3 or $4 \text{ fper hundred. See e al vessels were then loading it for the United States. MONEY MATTERS.

We learn from a communication from the presisheat of the Bank of the State of Indiana, that the mestitution is in a condition, not only to meet prompt-I all her own engagements, but to extend facilities ber customers, to enable them to send forward, to some extent, the surplus products of the State.

an June last the Central Bank determined to redeem and cased its circulation, and made arrangements with the Bank of the Capitol for that purpose. The suspension of that institution occasioned the rumor, which found its way to the Cincinnati papers, that the Central Bank had salve asspended. This is not true, and its circulation as assets is received, as heretofore, by the banking-houses of & A. Piercher, and the Brauch hanking Company, of this city, and is a reliable as any hank in the State.

The N. Y. Times, of Thursday, says in its money

A morning paper states that as much as $1.260,000 in sugar acceptances, drawn in July, fell due and were said off yesterday. We heard a similar rimor, on the street, but apprehend that most of the bills were virtually reserved, so far as our money market is interested, by new bills. There is no relief to the large stock of sugar by the small sales making to the interior, and no considerable movement toward reshipping to other markets.

We have New York papers of Friday morning The Times, in its money article, speaking of the less of coin by the foundering of the Central Amer-

The creation of about $1,000,000 in sterling exchange against the English underwriters will enable the Banks bere to do without the gold much better than if the loss had occurred with the previous steamer, when they held but $8,200,000 instead of $13,000,000, as at present. The treasure list of the Central America is believed to embrace about $1.500,000 from Cadifornia and probably some simil parcels of American gold from Ilavara. The Cadifornia mail probably contains $200,000 or $250,000 in fewerement drafts on the subtreasury. The original hawking drafts made assint the shipment are also in the amount of the 5th of September. Some few of the drafts may have gone via New Orleans.

At a meeting of the New York Board of Brokem recently, a resolution was adopted, by a large majority, to the effect that the new rule finiting all sales to within thirty days was passed on the 14th inst. in entire good faith; that its evasion in letter or spirit was not contemplated, and that any attempt to evade it is equally inconsistent with the general sentiment which demanded the reform, and hurtful to the best interests of the Stock Exchange Association.

But neither Bank and how changed to Sanford Bank. But neither Bank of Cohumbia, it is one of the strongest banks in some carrier all their paper home at once. As to the Coumercial Bank of Cohumbia, it is one of the strongest banks in South Carolina, having a capital of $200,000 and circulation $200,000, and exchange on New York sufficient to cover all their devoise and all their circulation. As to the Coilection of bank officers here asking for help, the rumor arises in the Imagination only. It is well known that the New England banks have on hand at Boston domestic exchange at all times, with specie funds, fo cover their circulation.—A bank officer from Connecticut to-day assures us that their circulation returns but very little faster now than assual, and that they keep redemytion funds both at Boston and New York. The alarm attempted to be created in reference to lihode Island and other New England banks is unfounded and is calculated to work much injury. Every bank stockholder in Massachusetts is bable for all the debts of his bank; and the security thus obtained by the bill-bolder should deter him from forcing the circulation home in consequence of such idle rumors.

THE CENTRAL AMERICA. NAMES OF TWENTY OF THE LOST.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 19. The following interesting particulars of the wreck of the Central America are furnished by Charles C. Fulton, E.q., of the American of this city, who left here last evening on board the hoat for Norfolk and was transferred during the night to the other boat of the line bound to this city. Several of the rescued passengers were on board and furnished many additional facts to those previously known. Captain Badger, of Baltimore, furnishes the following list of

Oliver P. Maulier, another of the rescued passengers, farrishes the following particulars:
The storm commenced immediately after leaving Thas and continued with great violence until Friday. On fridey afternoou all hands were called apon to bail out the water, which had extinguished the fires in her furnaces. The vessel continued to adopt water, and all went to work with buckets and harrels continuing all Friday night and Saturday harrels, continuing all Friday night and Saturday morning. About 2 P. M. the brig Marine hove in sight. All the ladies and children were put on her about 6 P. M., and the origineer left with them. In landing the boats, two of the five were stove and sunk. The other three were dispatched with the women and children. About an hour before subset women and children. About an hour before subset the Marine was lying nearly a mile away, and by the time the boats reached her, it became evident that the ship must go down before they could get back. All hands then seized pieces of chairs and life preservers, while others rushed below to seeme their treasure. The confusion at this time I ecame very great, although all acted with coolness, each endeavoring to make a last effort for their own safe-sty. The vessel gave three lurches, some of the passengers jumping off at each. Those who went with the first and second lurches awam off some distance to avoid being drawn down with her, but the great mass remained on deck till she went down, which was a minute or two afterwards.

I had provided myself with a life preserver and a piece of sper, and determined to go down with the vessel with the great mass of pussengers, all of whom stood about preparing themselves and securing the most available means to bnoy themselves up. She finally went down stern foremost.

I was standing near the smoke stack at the time, and we were all dragged under the water with the sinking ship. The general supposition is that we were dragged under at least twenty feet, and when we rose to the snrface we were nearly stifled. The rapidity with which I was drawn down tore the spar from my hands and the life preserver from my body; and when I reached the surface, my clothing was and when I reached the surface, my clothing was almost stripped off me. I however met a friend who had two life preservers, and he gave me one. We also seized on pieces of the wreck, which helped to sustain us. On reaching the surface, there were at least 400 passengers struggling about, most of them having lost their life preservers, and others seizing on viscose of wreck which cannot be with the The on pieces of wreck which came up with us. The captain had cut away the upper works of the vessel, so that when the hull sauk they would float off; hut they were dragged down with the hull and came up in fragments, and many of the stringgling passengers were doubtless killed, stunned, and drowned by being struck with the pieces of wreck, while to others ing struck with the pieces of wreck, while to others they proved the ultimate means of safety. An occasional flash of lightning showed to each other a sea of struggling forms. All strove to encourage their fellow suffers with hopes which they scare felt themselves. At first we were all together in a mass, but soon the waves separated us, and at each successive flash of lightning we discovered we were being scattered over a wide area, and soon we found ourselves apparently alone on the boundless ocean.

The balance of Mr. Maulier's account does not differ from that of Mr. Childs's, already published. He concludes by saying that about ten o'clock he was picked up by the bark Ellen, and had the satisfaction of finding many of his fellow sufferers on board, rescued by the humane exertions of the crew of that yessel. of that vessel.

The steamship Empire City sailed from Norfolk at 11 o'clock yesterday morning with ninely of the rescued passengers for New York.

According to the statement of Capt. Rodgers, the gale increased until 2 o'clock on Friday, the 11th, when it was perceived that the engine had stopped, and the ship fell off in the trough of the sea, which aused her to make considerable water around the se shaft and lee lower dead lights. It was after-wards ascertained that the cause of the stoppage of the engines was by the neglect of them in the fire room and engine department, in not getting coal

The deck pumps were found to be out of order, and companies were organized at my suggestion for bailing, while the steward's gang went down to pass the coal along. By this time the fires were put out, and the water became so heated in the hold of the ship, and the steam engendered was so great, that they were compelled to abandon passing the coal. The ship then lay at the mercy of the waves, but still laboring hard; we then started several gangs at bailing, as the only hope of saving the ship. At my suggestion the captain ordered the foremast to be cut away, which was done at 6 o'clock.

From four till eight o'clock the water was kept at bay, and an attempt was made to raise steam on the

The cause I could not learn. A drag was prepared, but it failed, and the ship continued in the trough of the sea. The bailing still went on vigorously, and was kept up all night by gangs who were changed as often as they became exhausted. Towards morning the men were beginning to fail, and the water began to increase and grow up in the hold of the ship. At one o'clock on the morning of Saturday, the 12th, the gale abated, with a heavy sea running. The water was then upon the cahin floor. At daylight a flag of distress was set, and a vigilant lookout was kept for a sail. New inventions for bailing were tried, such pumps, but all to no avail. The cause I could not a sail. New inventions for bailing were tried, such as rigging barrels with whips at every hatch, and every one labored as daylight broke with new vigor. They were encouraged by myself and others with the assurance that the ship would hold out. Every passenger remained cool, and seemed to forget their danger in the united efforts to save the vessel. There was no wenning or a whilition of darmir vigore. was no weeping or exhibition of despair, even on the part of the females.

At eight o'clock another attempt was made to raise steam on the donkey boiler to pump the ship, but without avail

At 20 clock on Saturday afternoon a sail was reported to the windward; at 2½ o'clock she came under the stern, and the boats were lowered. Two were stove instantly by the sea. Three remained, but only one was in good condition at 4 o'clock. The work of removing the ladies and children to the deck of the Marine was commenced. The brig going much lighter than the ship, had by this time drifted away o the leeward. The distance was considerable, and

The work of bailing was still going on with an increase of water. As the boats successively approached the ship, a simultaneous effort was imade by the passengers to get board; and it was apprehended that the boats would be filled and stove. It was now dark. Washington, Sept. 18. The Administration is determined to enforce the neutrality laws, and to-day took the initiatory steps for that purpose. In addition to information havin been received of fitting out three several expeditions, viz: at New York, New Orleans, and Mobile, for the invasion of Nicaragua, under the leadership of Gen. Walker, intelligence from an official quarter has come to hand of another expedition, having its center in if not altogether confined to Texas, for the in vasion of Mexico, and it is supposed the seizure of the State of Tamaulipa, as General Houston is, by the reports received, implicated us its leader. Today the form of instructions was prepared by executive authority, and copies of which will be dispatch ed to-morrow to the various marshals and district attorneys on the seaboard, as well as officers of the army and navy, to use all lawful means at their command to prevent such expeditions leaving the United States for the invasion of any country with which we are at peace; in other words, enjoining them to strictly enforce the neutrality laws. At present no Presidential proclamation will be issued

GREEN RIVER NAVIGATION -We hope that the Superintendent of l'ublic Works will give the matter complained of in the following extract his immediate attention. There are thousands of tons of freight now lying in warehouses here and on Green river awaiting the resumption of navigation. Its further postponement would result in heavy losses The Evansville Journal says:

The navigation on Green river, above Rumsey. has been suspended for two months, but we have managed to do business with the towns along Green river by reshipping at Rinneys. We were informed yesterday that the lock at Spottsville is out of order, owing to the neglect of the lock manager in leaving the gate open until the sand washed around it so as to prevent its shutting. The Sportsmau came down Thursday to obtain permission from her shippers to reship her freight on the keelboat Keystone State. How long this lock will be out of repair we cannot tell. It is a serious inconvenience to our commis that happened near that place. It says:

On Thursday evening, at Francisco, a village on the canal, in Gibsou county, about 16 miles from this city, a party of young persons were assembled for practice in singing. A crowd of rowdies soon gathered about the house, and began to make a disturbance to annoy or break up the singing party. The young men in the house—among whom were two sons of Mr. Ferkins, the owner of a larg-flouring mill in the village—with their brother-in-law, a Mr. Cross, came to the door either to drive away the disturbers or persuade them to be quiet. A fight ensued in which one of the young Perkins was stabbed and killed on the spot—the other was stabbed between the shoulders and had his throat cut, and, though living when the messenger left, he was not expected to suruive. Young Cross was also stabbed and had his tongue cut out by the murderous savages. ages.

> INTERESTING FROM SIAM. WASHINGTON, Wednesday, Sept. 16.

Official advices are received from Commander Foote, of the sloop-of-war Portsmonth, dated on Menam River, Siani, June 16th. On arriving he proceeded, in the King's steamer, to Bangkok, with Consul Bradley, the bearer of the treaty concluded between the United States and Siam. During their stay they were presented to the two Kings of the country, and were received with marked consideraountry, and were received with marked consideration by all the members of the Court. The second King, by invitation, visited the Portsmouth, the first instance of a King of Siam going on board a foreign vessel.

The kings sent a present of lamp-oil, rice, sugar, bread, fish, and fruit to the ship, for which payment

(From the Philadelphia Bulletin.) THE LOSS OF THE STEAMSHIP NORFOLK-FULL

PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER. PARTICULARS OF THE DISASTER.

Capt. Kelly, with the rescued passengers and a portion of the crew of the lost steamer Norfolk, reached this eity at 11 o'clock this morning, on the steamship City of Richmond. The passengers and crew, after the wreck of their ship, took to the small boats. The majority of them were picked up by the steamer Joseph Whitney, and the remainder were taken into Baltimore by the Caledonia.

Capt. Kelly informs us that he remained on the Whitney until poon on Tuesday. During the night

Whitney until noon on Tuesday. During the night previous the wind blew a gale. On Tuesday the wrecked party were taken off by the pilot-boat Gen. Pike, off Cape Henlopen, and taken into Lewis, where they were very kindly treated by the inhabitants.

At noon yesterday, the steamer City of Richmond touched at Lewis, and all hands were taken on board and brought to this city, where they arrived board and brought to this city, where they nrrived safely to-day.

Mr. George W. Porter, of the Merchants' Exchange, Baltimore, was a passenger on board the Joseph Whitney. He reports:

The steamship Norfolk, which left Philadelphia on Saturday last, for Norfolk and Richmond, with 26 passengers and a crew composed of 21 persons, and laden with a valuable cargo of merchandise, encountered a heavy gale on Saturday evening, which continued to increase in violence during the night; between 10 o'clock, P. M., and 4, A. M., she sprung aleak, and to lighten her a large portion of the cargo was thrown overboard. Her head was then turned toward the beech, with the view of running her on to save the lives of those on board, but the rudder broke off, and she was left a helpless wreck, in a violent gale and heavy sea; and at daylight on Monday broke into pieces, then about 10 miles south of Chiucoteague, the passengers and crew barely of Chiucoteague, the passengers and crew barely having time to take to the boats, saving nothing but what clothes they had on, before she went down and was lost entirely from view.

After being on board the small boats in a heavy see and high N. N. W. wind for about nine hours, they were fallen in with at 2½ P. M., by the steamship Jos. Whitney, Capt. Howes, from Baltimore, bound for Boston, who succeeded in taking up three of the boats containing forty persons. The fourth boat was afterwards picked up by the steamer Caledonia, bound from Charleston to Baltimore.

The passengers all speak in the highest praise of the conduct of Capt. Kelly and his officers, Mr. Jno. Moore aud Mr. W. II. Snyler, during the trying circumstances of the loss of their ship. The Captain stood at the gang-way, and would not allow a single man to leave the ship until the ladies were all stely stowed in the lost he then had each lost the sifely stowed in the boat, he then had each boat prowith a compass and provisions, &c., being himself the last to leave the sinking ship.

It is impossible to describe the feelings of the un-fortunate ship-wrecked people upon finding them-selves once more safe on the deck of the Jos. Whit-Some of them were almost entirely destitute of clothing, while others were but half clad-most of the ladies and children were without shoes or stockings, and from the exposure to the high wind and sea their garments generally were nearly washed off them. In a short time, however, they were made as comfortable as possible under the circumstances

The Norfolk was thirteen years old, 611 tons burthen, and she was re-built four years ago. owned at Philadelphia, and is partly insured.

Mrs. Hudson is on trial at Sparta, Ga., for killing Mr. Bass. The only evidence of much force was a youth of some twelve years of age, the son of Mr. Bass. He stated that Mrs. Hndson came to his father's on the morning of the 2d instant, and went into the kitchen. Bass followed her, and asked if she wanted to shoot at him again, rubbing his fist in her face. She drew a pistol, and Bass retreated behind the door; she followed and shot him in the left breast. He died instantly. We suppose other witnesses must have been before the court, favorable to the prisoner, as they admitted her to bail in the nominal sum of $300. Her father, Mr. Josiah Cellins, who is a planter of respectable means, stood her security. Her husband, Mr. Joseph Hudson, is now in Milledgeville jail for shooting a man at the city ferry. She demeaned herself during the trial as one who had about as much interest in it as any of the bystanders. She appears to be ab 25 years of age, and is good looking.
